Call for proposals, registrations for International Perspectives on University Teaching and Learning Symposium

AUBURN, Ala. – The Office of International Programs will host the third International Perspectives on University Teaching and Learning Symposium June 3-5, 2020 at Disney's Contemporary Resort in Orlando, FL, a fitting international location for the 2020 'Geared for Global' theme. Using an intimate and dynamic environment, the symposium encourages the collaboration of a diverse collection of global thinkers who are geared toward creating and sustaining an internationalized campus culture across higher education institutions.

Proposals for pre-conference workshops and concurrent sessions are now being accepted. Topics sought include international collaborations in teaching and learning, global innovations in teaching, the multicultural classroom, creative uses of technology, internationalizing the curriculum and other relevant subjects geared toward internationalization. Proposals should be submitted through the symposium website by Jan. 31, 2020.

Early-bird registration is $650 until Feb. 1, 2020, after which the price increases to $700. Registration includes all workshops, the opening dinner and reception at Epcot, all symposium sessions, and breakfast, lunch and break snacks on June 4-5. Also, the hotel is offering steeply discounted rates for symposium attendees, which can be accessed on the website.

To submit a proposal and register for the symposium, please visit the website (<http://www.auburn.edu/academic/international/iputl/2020/index.php>). For questions or to be added to the e-newsletter contact list, email iputl@auburn.edu.

EDUCATOR OPEN HOUSE
K-12, COLLEGE AND UNIVERSITY EDUCATORS AND ADMINISTRATORS
FRIDAY, 10.18.2019
4:00 PM - 6:00 PM

Educators who work with students of all ages are invited to explore how the Rubin Museum's artwork can connect with their curriculum.

The Rubin's permanent collection is an exceptional resource for educators, offering insight into the art and history of cultures from the Himalayan region, as well as a springboard for discussion of universal ideas. Through a lively discussion and gallery tours, learn how to help your students make deep and meaningful connections between their own lives and the timeless art in the Rubin's galleries. This event will take place in the Rubin Museum Education Center.

Learn about the Rubin's 2019 theme of POWER and our plans for 2020.

The evening includes:

- Customized tours led by trained educators
- Light refreshments and snacks
- Hands-on art-making opportunities
- Meet-and-greet with Rubin Museum staff
- An opportunity to meet fellow educators
- Invitation to the K2 Lounge immediately following the Open House

For more information, please email education@rubinmuseum.org.
